
HIGH STRENGTH, LOW RESISTIVITY ELECTRODE

Abstract of the Disclosure

For use in an implantable medical device, there is provided a biocompatible, biostable, corrosion-resistant wire strand comprising a core comprising a plurality of electrically conductive, low electrical resistance filaments embedded in an electrically conductive matrix, and a low electrical resistance, substantially chemically inactive cladding.